OREGON DEAD ADDED TO ## HONOR ROLL OF STATE IS INCREASED BY 80.

Pneumonia Claims Heaviest Toll, 47 Having Succumbed to That Disease.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Eighty names were added to the honor roll of Oregon's dead in the world war Tuesday when the official list of men who died in the United States navy was received by George A. White, adjutant-general of the state.

The names were furnished by the navy department in response to a request made by Mr. White two months ago. Supplementing the list furnished by the war department of more than 800 men who died while serving in the army and 100 additional names which have since been added to the official list in Salem, Oregon's honor roll now totals approximately 1000.

Pneumonia claimed the heaviest toll among the navy men, 47 of the total death roll having succumbed to that disease. The largest other single cause was the sinking of the U. S. S. Cyclops, in which six Oregon men were drowned. Forty-eight of the 80 were native-born Oregonians.

The others enlisted from various points in Oregon. Portland bears the heaviest loss of any city of Oregon in natives, seven Portland men having paid with their lives.

The other dead are spread among a large number of Oregon towns. The full list is as follows:
