Ask an Archivist Day
October 3, 2018

As part of the national celebration of Archives Month 2018, Oct. 3, has been designated as “Ask an Archivist Day”! Archivists around the country will take to Twitter to answer your questions about any and all things archives.

You can join the fun by tweeting a question to hashtag, #AskAnArchivist. Your question will instantly be seen by archivists around the country who will respond directly to you. If you have a question for a specific archives or archivist, include their Twitter handle with your question. They may not know every answer right away, but they will get back to you after they've had a chance to do some digging.

Staff at the Oregon State Archives will be participating in the day-long event fielding questions and sharing information about the work that they do. Perhaps they will share some fun facts about the holdings at the Archives. If you want to interact with Oregon State Archives staff as part of “Ask an Archivist Day” please use @OregonArchives.
