Program Description

The Oregon Parks and Recreation Department (OPRD) is responsible for developing and providing access to sites with natural, scenic, cultural, historic significance, and recreational opportunities. The department operates Oregon state parks through its headquarters in Salem, with support from three regional offices. OPRD is responsible for Oregon's Recreation Trails, the Ocean Shores Recreation Area, Scenic Waterways, Willamette River Greenway, and Heritage Programs, including the State Historic Preservation Office, Heritage Commission, and Oregon Commission on Historic Cemeteries. Originally part of the Oregon Highway Department, OPRD began operations as a stand-alone agency in 1989. OPRD's statutory authority is found in ORS Chapters 97, 358, 390; the agency's official name is the State Parks and Recreation Department.

OPRD is headed by a Director, who is responsible for administering the agency; providing leadership and direction in the formation and execution of policy; and overseeing the agency budget (ORS 390.131). The Director is appointed by and responsible to the State Parks and Recreation Commission, a seven-member governor-appointed body that establishes policies; adopts administrative rules necessary to execute OPRD's duties; sets fees; acquires property; and promotes the state's outdoor recreation policy (ORS 390.114 et seq.). The Director's Office maintains the official copy of the State Parks and Recreation Commission's records.

Program: Ocean Shores

Program Description

The Ocean Shores program manages the Ocean Shores area, which extends from the low tide line to vegetation the Pacific Coast. The program focuses on land use issues, recreational issues, and management of species. Pursuant to the Beach Bill, enacted in 1967, the public enjoys free and uninterrupted use of the beaches along Oregon’s 362 mile-long coastline; the state’s ocean shore is administered as a state recreation area. OPRD is charged with the protection and preservation of the recreation, scenic, and natural resources on Oregon’s ocean shore. Through its ocean shore rules, the program regulates vehicle use, camping, and other recreational activities on the ocean shore. OPRD reviews permits for special events, commercial filming, and beach salvage activities; and administers a permit program for ocean shore alterations. Through cooperative efforts, the Ocean Shores program manages various species found in the beach zone.
